Compare and Contrast

Read the passage below and answer the questions.

Bananas are a yellow fruit that grow in tropical climates. They are sometimes referred to as the 'perfect fruit' because they are straightforward to peel, you don't have to wash them and they are easy to carry. Pineapples are another example of a yellow fruit which grows in tropical climates. Pineapples are sweet and juicy. Like bananas, they don't need to be washed before eating, but their prickly skin means that they do need to be carefully peeled.
